Choosing Fabrics for Square Projects

The first step in any sewing project is choosing the right fabrics. For square projects, you'll want to choose fabrics that are:

- Lightweight and easy to work with. This will make it easier to cut and sew your squares.
- Durable and long-lasting. You want your projects to last, so choose fabrics that will stand up to wear and tear.
- Coordinated in color and pattern. This will help your projects look cohesive and well-made.

Once you've chosen your fabrics, you'll need to cut them into squares. The size of the squares will depend on the project you're making. For most projects, squares that are 2-3 inches in size are a good starting point.

Organizing Your Stash

If you're like most sewers, you probably have a stash of fabrics on hand. Organizing your stash can help you stay organized and make it easier to find the fabrics you need for your projects.

There are a few different ways to organize your fabric stash. You can sort your fabrics by color, type, or pattern. You can also store your fabrics in clear containers or on shelves. Whatever method you choose, make sure it works for you and helps you stay organized.
