- Place the plastic canvas on a flat surface.
- Transfer the lighthouse pattern onto the canvas using a pencil or pattern transfer paper.

Step 2: Embroider the Lighthouse

- Starting at the bottom of the lighthouse, embroider the navy sections using a backstitch.
- Embroider the white windows and red door using a satin stitch.
- Embroider the brown roof using a single crochet stitch.
- Add details, such as the black lantern and rusty weather vane, using a backstitch.

Step 3: Create the Sea

- Embroider the water using a variety of blue and green shades in a satin stitch.
- Create waves by varying the direction of your stitches.

- Embroider the horizon using a straight stitch in navy.

Step 4: Embroider the Seagulls

- Embroider the seagull bodies using a backstitch in white.
- Embroider the wings using a satin stitch in a light blue shade.
- Add details, such as the eyes and beaks, using a backstitch in black.

Step 5: Assemble the Tissue Cover

- Cut the plastic canvas to size, leaving a 1-inch seam allowance on all sides.
- Place the embroidered panel face down on clear plastic wrap.
- Fold over the edges of the plastic canvas and glue them down to the plastic wrap, creating a border.
- Trim any excess plastic wrap.
- Iron the tissue cover to seal the edges.

Tips for Success

- Use a sharp yarn needle to prevent snagging the plastic canvas.
- Keep your stitches even and consistent for a polished look.
- Don't over-iron the tissue cover, as it may melt the plastic.
- Add a touch of personalization by adding sequins, beads, or other embellishments.

With the Lighthouse Regular Tissue Cover Plastic Canvas Pattern, you'll elevate your decor with a touch of nautical charm. Whether you're a seasoned crafter or a beginner, this pattern provides a detailed guide to creating a unique and captivating piece that will bring the tranquility of the seaside into your home.
